BOG Open Meeting

The latest Board of Governors' open meeting was crowded as usual with a good turn out of residents who wanted to get an update on what's going on in the community and what are the future plans.

Barbara Morgan, chair of the board thanked former members Toby Allen and Allen Boemer, who had previously resigned, for their work, time and effort. Toby will not be replaced since there is too little time before the next election for a new member to "ramp up" on the board's work.

For a review of the work that was done over the past spring and summer and future plans see page 9

Vacation Delivery

To Receive Quail Runner while away, give your reporter or the editor an extra long envelope with two first class stamps and your vacation address. The editor has some free extra large envelopes; or get issues emailed to you

Or you may view the current issue on QuailRun Hudson.com. The website also contains photos from various functions and events.

Transitions

Condolences to Barbara Champine whose Mother died 22 November in Salt Lake City. She was 102 years old.

The Editor's Desk

MJ Ebens, editor

We have two new advertisers in this issue, the Shaklee ad is courtesy of the Champine's daughter. Great Lengths is used by a number of us to get our hair done. Be sure to mention the Quail Runner when you use our advertisers — so they will know that their ad is seen!

Other changes include thanks to Joyce DiPaolo for her years as reporter for her end of Autumn, and welcome to Carole Perla who is taking over for her.

I appreciate the kind words expressed by the Champines on my work as editor of the Quail Runner, however I would be remiss if I didn't thank my loyal and supportive staff of reporters and columnists and well as the enthusiasm of the residents. We all work together to make Quail Run a great place to live.

Welcome to Marie Mangan and her dog Tara to 7C Strawberry. She is from Gately Avenue here in Hudson. Marie is another retiree from Digital.

Updates & Changes to Email & Phone

The updated phone book has just been distributed. The Board of Governors covered the $123 cost of copying. There are already corrections and updates! You can see the current changes below. We will send out an email update in June. Be sure to send any updates or corrections to Jack Doherty, Communications Committee.

HEALTHY LIVING

by Peggy Rittenhouse

Probably all of us know someone who has Alzheimer's disease (AD). It seems that increasing age and a family history of AD are the greatest risk factors for the disease and, of course, we can't do much about either one of those, so what's a person to do? Fortunately our government agency The National Institute of Health is funding numerous studies trying to find ways to prevent and/or treat AD and this agency has some suggestions for us.

A variety of factors seem to reduce the risk of developing AD and there is a growing body of evidence that a healthy lifestyle promotes a healthy brain.

- Take good care of your heart by treating high blood pressure because there seems to be a relationship between high blood pressure and damage to blood vessels in the brain which reduce the brain's oxygen supply
- 2) Maintain normal blood cholesterol levels which is another way to take good care of your heart
- 3) Keep blood sugar under control
- 4) Be physically active which benefits not only your heart and waistline but also your brain. It seems that physical and mental function improve with aerobic fitness which may have something to do with increased blood flow to the brain during physical activity
- 5) Stay engaged in social activities with friends, family and others. In a National Institute of Aging (NIA) funded study, a high level of social interactions was associated with significant reduction in cognitive decline. Examples of activities to keep your mind exercised and improve mental functioning are:

Learn something new such as learning a foreign language

Play memory games to improve your memory Read challenging material

Join a book club

Do crossword puzzles, sudoku, jigsaw puzzles Play board games

6) Eat a healthy diet such as a diet low in cholesterol, saturated fat, sugar and salt and high in dietary fiber, fruits, vegetables, legumes, whole grains and omega-3's such as salmon, flax seed and walnuts

Okay, I'm off for a walk on the Railtrail and after that a game of Big Boogie.

Drug Warning

A recent Mayo Clinic study indicates that for some people the drug Mirapex can induce compulsive behaviors.

Mirapex, is often prescribed for Parkinson's disease, restless leg syndrome, or fibromyalgia. Mirapex has a black box warning about compulsive behavior and can cause gambling, shopping/spending, overeating, and/or sexual addictions.

Welcoming new residents

We as a community try hard to make sure that all new comers get a warm welcome, but we sometimes fall sadly short. Sally Mauro is the head of the Welcoming Committee and has a packet of information to hand out to new comers. She also requests information from them so that they will get in our phonebook and added to the email distribution. If you notice someone new moving in to your area, please let Sally or your reporter know. Don't assume that someone already knows – we would rather hear several times than miss one.

The Hudson Food Pantry

The recent Boy Scout Food Drive collected over 9000 lbs of food. This is the largest amount ever collected. The highest before was just over 7000 lbs. Unfortunately the need is greater than ever. Note the opportunity to contribute at the Holiday Party.

Curtain Call

On November 16th eleven members of Curtain Call attended Noel Coward's play "Hay Fever" performed by the Concord Players. This was our second visit to this theater. Both plays were performed skillfully and the stage setting very appropriate. The seating arrangement of the Concord Theater allows for good viewing of the stage. All, who attended, enjoyed this play.

The next play we are planning on seeing is "Cabaret", performed by the Concord Players. The decadent world of 1930's Berlin comes to life in this Tony Award-winning musical masterpiece. Sunday, February 15th. 2 PM (matinee). Tickets go on sale December 1. I am taking names now for those who are interested. Price $23.00

You do not have to be a member of Curtain Call to attend; however, if you belong to Curtain Call, you get to help pick out what we see, and receive e-mail notices from

Curtain Call. The best thing is meeting your neighbors the second Wednesday of each month and enjoying lively conversations.

Contact Toby Allen, 978 562-7437, puella_tobia@hotmail.com or Helen Marckini 978-567-0937 for more information.

Curtain Call Productions

The world famous authors, Adam and Eve, paid a visit to Quail Run, the last stop on their trip international book promotion tour. With the help of Ken Curewitz and Jeannine Bensette these two character were brought to life through excerpts from their diaries. They were formally introduced by Lee Bradbard as Master of Ceremonies. Profits from the production will go towards plants and materials for the rock garden behind the Club House parking lot.

Our next production is scheduled for February 21. We will present an evening of "Stew and Stage" with a light supper, a multi-media production of Mrs. McWilliams and the Lightening, dessert, and some a reading aloud of bedtime stories. Save the date – there will be more in the January/February issue.

If you want to be part of the cast / crew, contact Toby or MJ Ebens.

Heritage Chorale

2009 Season 72nd Season Programs

POPS 2009 — Sunday, February 8, 2009; 4:00 p.m., Nevins Hall, Memorial Building; 150 Concord

Street (Rte. 126), Framingham

Enjoy a "Rhythm" and "Dance" theme with songs that include "The Rhythm of Life" and "I Got Rhythm" and dance music from the Tango to the Hora, from Bolero to Square dances.

Spring Concert — Saturday, May 9, 2009; 7:30 p.m.,

Performing Arts Center, St. Mark's School, 25 Marlborough Road, Southborough

Celebrate with the Chorale and a full chamber orchestra the anniversaries of numerous world famous composers, including Purcell, Handel and Haydn. The concert will feature festive works by Purcell, one of the splendid "Coronation Anthems" by Handel and the stirring "Lord Nelson Mass" by Haydn.

The group meets the second and fourth Tuesdays at 7:00 each month at members homes. All knitters (or other types of handwork) are welcome.

The group is interested in making hats for Project We Care -- Helping to Keep Others Warm. The directress writes that the articles go to diners at a soup kitchen in Lawrence, a homeless shelter also in Lawrence, a van that goes out each night with hot food seeking those in need of a warm meal or a hat to keep them warm. I also try to keep a small supply on hand in case of an emergency. Last winter there was a huge fire that left 150 people homeless I only had 14 hats on hand but I brought them over to the emergency facility so people could have something to keep them warm. We never have enough but we do the best we can. Every item helps. Thank you in advance.

Yarn is available for these projects including directions for a very simple hat.

The quiz above is just for fun, but our four-footed friends do present some issues here at Quail Run. The foremost of these is owners who do not pick up after their pets. Many residents, both pet owners and nonowners are quite irate over this problem. Most of the malefactors are known and it is just a matter of time before someone brings a formal complaint to the board. Doggie visitors are subject to the same rules, this includes the handsome Doberman Pincher seen recently dragging his leash, out to do his business unattended.

Night time visibility is another problem. Most of the dogs being walked after dark, seem to have reflective material on their collars and coats — but the owners are wearing dark winter jackets. Motorists can't see them and a pedestrian may get hit when the driver swerves to miss the dog!

LASCO WHIRLPOOL BATHTUB

To flush the circulating system in the whirlpool tub close the air controls by turning clockwise until fingertight. Fill the tub with warm water above the highest jet. Add 3 teaspoons of a low-foaming dishwasher detergent such as Cascade and 6 ounces of liquid household bleach. Run whirlpool system for 10 minutes. Turn whirlpool system off and let water stand for 10 minutes. Drain the tub and refill with water and run for another 10 minute cycle. Drain and rinse the tub. This should be done after about every 15 uses.

Water Heater Maintenance

It is generally recommended that we drain some water out of the hot water heater occasionally to remove accumulated sediment because it reduces heating efficiency. It is certainly true that the Hudson water has considerable sediment. However, those of us with the larger 85 gallon water heater are surprised when we try to drain some water to see that there is no handle on the drain faucet. A search on the Internet reveals the reason: the 85 gallon heater has a special sediment removal mechanism that eliminates the need to remove it through the drain. Sometimes we get a break.

Both of the above from George Champine

Cinema Night Some Like It Hot

December 5 at 7:00 PM

Some Like It Hot is a 1959 comedy film starring Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis, and Jack Lemmon. The supporting cast includes George Raft, Joe E. Brown, Edward G. Robinson, and Pat O'Brien. In 2000, the American Film Institute listed Some Like It Hot as the greatest American comedy film of all time. The film is 122 minutes in black and white.

The film was originally planned to be filmed in full color, but it had to be changed to black and white because of a very obvious 'green tint' around the heavy make-up required by Curtis and Lemmon.

The Plot — Two struggling musicians, Joe and Jerry (Curtis and Lemmon), witness what looks like the Saint Valentine's Day massacre of 1929. When the Chicago gangsters spot them, the duo leave town in an all-girl band. The call themselves Josephine and Geraldine and join the band. In Florida, Joe woos Sugar by assuming a second disguise as a millionaire named "Junior", the heir to Shell Oil, while mimicking Cary Grant's voice.

The escapades continue non-stop with everyone proposing marriage to everyone. When the mobsters arrive at the same hotel for a conference honoring "Friends of Italian Opera", Spats and his gang spot Joe and Jerry. After several humorous chases, Jerry, Joe, Sugar, and Osgood escape to the millionaire's yacht where the action continues.

Astrology — What's Up

By Beverly Beyloune

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18 During the next year or two you may discover a change in your values – and what you value. The values you are beginning to consider important are different than the old values you held ...your need for material things – possessions. This is a time when you will begin to free yourself from 'things' and 'possessions'. A time when you will begin to redefine your relationship to the outside world and the people around you. Old patterns and ways of thinking as well as the old limitations you placed on yourself no longer seem acceptable. You also have the tendency at this time to 'see' through rose colored glasses. You tend to see things not as they are but in the way that you would want them to be.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20

This is a year of very big changes in you. A time when you make major changes in your appearance and life in general. You may change the color of your hair, or decide on a totally different style. You may change the type of clothes you wear or begin wearing colors you never tried before. This is the year (or two) of 'out with the old and in with the new'. This includes things as well as people. This is a time when you'll find yourself making new friends and going to new places. You see everything and everyone in a different way. This is a very important time in your life when you will strive to achieve more now than you ever have before.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Five years ago this fall we began writing the Area Highlights and Technology columns at the request of MJ Ebens, our editor. She saw the need for a newsletter in the summer of 2003. I wish to take this opportunity to thank her for her dedication in publishing "The Quail Runner". A tremendous amount of time and effort on her part makes possible this fine publication. We should all give her a hearty thank you for the time that she spends on our behalf. Thank you MJ.

Thank Quail Run

Dear Quail Run Community,

I cannot begin to thank you for your continued support of Project Home Again. It seems as though Lee and Paula Bradbard are constantly unloading a van full of items you've sent our way! Your generosity is so greatly appreciated. To state the obvious, times are now harder on those in need than in a very long time and we simply cannot keep up with the demand. Your household items have changed the lives of so many of our neighbors in need. My sincerest gratitude for all your donations,

Nancy Kanell, Director, Project Home Again

Game Nite – If you're looking for something fun to do on these long winter nights, don't forget Game Nite – the first and third Tuesdays in each month – 7:00 – 9:30 pm. We play a variety of table and card games. Beginners are encouraged to come. There are usually about 15 to 20 gamers — generally 4 to 6 at a table. More are always welcome. This is a good way to get acquainted with your neighbors in small batches.

November Pot Luck – over 70 residents came for dinner. Surprisingly, there was space for everyone. The serving tables were groaning with food. Food lines were kept short by bringing people up by table, although there was a lot of good natured ribbing about who got to go up when! Marlynn kept us all in line. After second servings there was a slight pause while the desserts were brought out. The crowd all agreed that this group knows how to cook! Several people took photographs – check out our Quail Run website QuailRunHudson.com to see them.

Thanks to Marlynn Stott, Marcella Monte and their crew along with the Social Committee for a job well done.

National Heritage Museum

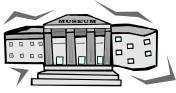

This is a nearby gem — an American History museum supported by Scottish Rite Freemasons. A visit to this museum is truly an experience in the American Spirit. George and I try to visit at least once a year. The exhibits, both permanent and temporary, tell stories of patriotism, adventure, invention, community—all aspects of how we have worked, played, struggled and achieved. The exhibitions change regularly so there is something new several times a year. The museum has a year round calendar of related events. There is a fine auditorium, a Heritage gift shop, and Tuesday-Friday a café.

Through Feb 8, 2009 there is an exhibition "Keepers of Tradition: Art and Folk Heritage in Massachusetts", a major new exhibit that features more than 100 works by 70 Massachusetts artists who preserve and revitalize deeply rooted traditions. There are Native American baskets, Yankee wooden boats, Armenian lace, Chinese seals, Puerto Rican Santos, Irish music and dance and much more. These keepers of tradition are recognized in their communities as outstanding practitioners of craft, music, dance, and sacred arts.

Other current exhibits: Ellis Island Portraits 1905-1920, Illustrated Sheet Music 1917-1924, "Made in Massachusetts", and several other exhibits. The museum hosts many free programs and a few with an admission charge.

Hours: Monday-Saturday, 10am-5pm, Sunday, Noon-5pm; Free Admission and Parking; Tel: 781-861-6559 www.nationalheritagemuseum.org (Check this often for a current list of exhibits)

Directions: 33 Marrett Road (Route 2A) Lexington, MA. Take route 62 to Rt, 2 in Concord. Take a right and then go straight on 2A at the split with 2. Go east. Cross I 95. Take this road into Lexington. This museum is on the left at a large brick wall and iron gates. If you get to Mass Ave. you have gone too far.

BOG Open Meeting

At the latest Board of Governors' open meeting Barbara Morgan, chair of the board, provided an update on the community and what are the future plans.

Since the next election for the board will take place in May the current board decided not to fill the gap left by the resignation of Toby Allen.

• New signs are on order to be installed at the entrances to Quail Run on both Autumn and Rotherham. The finished design is on page 11. The board would like to see the signs installed as quickly as possible once they are finished and the town has approved the location. The cost for the two signs is $3,300. The six new street lights that were installed this past year cost $11,850. While they don't provide as much light as residents would like, they are an improvement, and we can add more at a later date.

- Five drainage projects were completed at $5,390
- The board is experimenting with the best solution for down spouts and gutters. Six units have been selected to see if larger downspouts and gutters will solve the problem or just increase the size of the backup.
- Painting presents a major problem for the community the trim is full of rotten wood. The wood is being replaced with PVC which is expensive but will solve the problem in the long run. The board has prioritized the units to be repaired.
- One Rotherham was the worst looking building in the complex and was repainted at a cost of $20,000.
- A parking space for Lawn Barber was added to Rotherham and some bushes which were removed from the entrance of Autumn were planted there. The bushes needed to be moved to allow for the new sign. We will continue with Lawn Barber for another year.
- The new rules and regulations for the community were sent out to the owners. This amended the original ones received when units were bought
- A new trash contract with our current hauler has a reduction of costs from $36,010 to $35,100.
- A new contract was negotiated for pump maintenance. Barbara made a point of thanking Vinnie Picarello who has taken on the job of pump manager and checking the unit. The board also found that the pump back up generator had not had maintenance since the year 2002. The generator required $5,000 to repair. A maintenance contract was set up.

- The issues around back taxes are better. We ended up paying no additional taxes for 2005, a small sum was owed for 2006, and 2007 is in progress.
- Decks have been a major headache. The contract for deck maintenance was late and the very rainy spring didn't help. Three decks were done on a trial basis and were very unsatisfactory. After review by several painting contractor, the consensus was that because of the variety of finishes used on the decks there is no stain that will work well. Our only choice is to have the decks painted. The board was told that while the developer may have skimped on some things around the development, the red cedar on the decks was the best choice. Decks will be a priority next spring.

Under Emergencies, the board had several issues to deal with.

- Lightening strikes required $4,000 for repairs. The board looked into lightening rods and found they would cost $3,450 per unit not per building! They are investigation surge protectors as an alternate for both the units involved in past strikes as well as the pump and the fire kiosk
- A large sink hole at the end of Strawberry was repaired as well as a number of basement cracks. Some gutters required extra cleaning. Gutters will be cleaned twice a year.

The new budget projects a fee increase of about $10.00 per month per unit.

The budget will be finalized by the end of November and a statement will be sent out to owners.

Under the heading of new and on-going

- Additional street parking is under investigation
- Ice dams are a problem and a solution is being sought.
- The Building and Grounds Committee is prioritizing the trim and repairs needed. The goal is to keep the community as a whole looking nice.
- Building and unit insurance has become confused with a conflict between what the community bylaws require and what the current insurance covers. Our lawyer and insurance agent are trying to resolve the issue. There will probably be a special meeting on insurance as soon as these two entities resolve the issue. It is not easy to sort out.

Does Quail Run have a Resident Fox and other wild life?

By: George Champine

If Quail Run has a mascot, it is probably the friendly red fox that Harold Edelstein has seen and photographed recently. Of course, to be a real mascot, it needs a name such as Freddie Fox. At least he can qualify as our Resident Fox. He is quite friendly, but has not joined any clubs or attended any social functions that I know of. A few days ago he was on our driveway checking up on our unit to make sure everything was in order. I thought he might stop in for a chat, but he had other business to attend to, so he kept moving.

Red foxes eat rodents, snakes, squirrels, rabbits, birds, and other small game as described in the web site: http://www.mass.gov/dfwele/dfw/wildlife/living/pdf/living-with-foxes.pdf (thanks to Harold for the web pointer). Although he is probably harmless to adults, we should be concerned for the safety of children, cats, and small dogs. His portrait has been posted on

Editor Note: Foxes are only one of native animals living in and around us. Several residents have reported that the annual migration of field mice looking for warmer quarters has begun. The Ebens found a dead mouse on the hall runner courtesy of their cat. (Unfortunately he has declined becoming Rent-a-Cat). Mildred Chomsky found mouse droppings in a kitchen drawer when she returned from two weeks away – she called an exterminator. Toby Allen can hear them overhead in her basement and is deciding on the best method of dealing with them. We all should keep in mind that Quail Run was a forest before we all moved in and that there is still much wooded and open land around us. The animals were here first and are trying to adjust to us. We need to do the same.

News from 2-4 Strawberry

Cruise To Bermuda — Four Quail Runners from 2 Strawberry and four other friends (8 in all) went on a five-day cruise to Bermuda on the beautiful Jewel of the Seas, a Royal Caribbean ship. Those from Quail Run to take the cruise were Lynn Fishman, Ginny Fullham, and George and Barbara Champine. We had a great table in the center of the dining room where George reigned with seven women. He says "How can one guy be so lucky?" We had a great cruise with rough seas on only one day (after all, this was sailing in the North Atlantic in the fall). The food and entertainment were first class. Ginny entertained us at her line dancing class. One of the gals even climbed the rock wall on the ship and we all tried out the pools and hot tubs. In Hamilton there was a trolley ride to sight see and at Kings Wharf there were dolphins, glass blowing and pottery exhibit and a visit to exhibit and a visit to the fort (museum). A great time was had by all.

Guarding against lightening damage

Quail Run has recently attracted a number of lightening strikes, which have caused damage to computers, printers, TVs, and other electronic devices. The damage is caused by power surges in the electrical power connection. One way to avoid this damage is to unplug the devices when there is lightening. This can be inconvenient, especially if no one is home. Another way to avoid damage is to use power surge limiters. These can be purchased from Best Buy and Amazon for about $10 to $60 depending on capacity.

Improved picture format

Mark Reid has greatly improved the picture display in the Picture Gallery on the Quail Run web site. To see it, go to: http://www.quailrunhudson.com/photos.html . Then click on Social Events Photos #1 for recent pictures of the Coffee Morning event, Social Events Photos #2 for recent pictures of the Oktober Fest and the can use your old analog TV set if you purchase a crazy costumes worn by your friends and neighbors, Social Events Photos #3 for recent pictures of the Pot Luck Supper, Special for pictures of the trip to the Newport Playhouse, and Scenery for pictures of our resident fox (thanks to Harold Edelstein) and other scenes around Quail Run.

Netbooks arrive

It is amazing how new technology quickly becomes indispensable. First it was desktop computers. They became indispensable, but were too large to be portable. Then came laptops, which were much better but seven pounds was just too much. Now the "netbooks" (the official name) have arrived which weigh in at about two pounds and are the size of a hardcover book. Asus was an early leader in this new technology, but now HP, Acer, Lenovo, and others are entering the market. Those of us who travel extensively appreciate them allow us to do e-mail, surf the web, and store and view digital pictures. The early ones used Unix but the newer ones run Windows XP, have built-in wireless N WiFi (three times better than wireless G), media slots to upload pictures from a digital camera, a built-in webcam for video instant messaging, Ethernet, audio out, microphone in, USB, and a full keyboard for easy typing. They are not cheap but at about $400 they cost about the same as a low-end laptop. A typical product is the Asus Eee 900HA with a nine-inch screen and 160 Gbyte hard disk at about $330 from Amazon. For another $90 you can get the Asus 901 which has a 12 Gbyte solid state memory in place of a hard disk. The solid state memory uses the same technology as in digital camera media cards, and provides much faster boot times and eight hours battery life. Asus also provides 20 Gbytes of Internet storage for you to store files too large for your computer and to share them with others under password protection.

Free TV

As we all know, analog TV broadcasts over the air will end on Feb. 17, 2009 when the FCC requires them to switch to all-digital. This will not affect anyone on Comcast cable TV. However, this is an opportunity to dump Comcast. You can still receive over-the-air programs free through an antenna. All newer HDTV sets already have a built-in digital receiver (called an ATSC tuner) which will receive these programs if you attach an antenna. If you do not have an antenna, I suggest a powered antenna at about $40. However, you converter. The converter sells for about $60 at Best Buy (one of the best) but you can get a $40 discount coupon from the government at: https://www.dtv2009.gov/.

I recently purchased the converter at Best Buy for $20 with the coupon. Setup was trivial and consisted of selecting the "next" button several times. Performance was excellent and I can receive about 25 channels. The converter comes with a remote which the old TV did not have. Since the signal is digital, the picture quality is excellent.
